The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes Adventure VIII – The Man with the Twisted Lip

'Til St Clair had a fat bank account.
The funds grew apace.
Then a sponge crossed his face.
Now he works to increase the amount.

Sandy Kozinn

Holmes found St. Clair wearing stripes
And went to an opium den with no gripes
St. Clair hid his begging scheme
And made his poor wife start to scream
While Holmes just enjoyed his pipes

Karen Olson

A twisted lip beggar was he,
Who lived down in Kent close to Lee,
After Holmes washed his face,
'Twas to home he did race,
Holmes lived with his wife don't you see.

Bill Dorn

The Thames gives up the pennies and coat
Ms. St. Clair finds the toy bricks of note
A dashed memo he pens
To a jail cell Boone spends
A sponge forces Neville to emote
