The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes Adventure XIII – The Adventure of the Beryl Coronet

From a safe, thieves a coronet could take,
But at home, burglars someone would wake.

Holder locked it with a key
That anyone could see.

That's the biggest mistake he could make.

Sandy Kozinn

A banker had a priceless crown in his care
And when it was damaged, he thought it unfair

Holmes pinned it on the niece

The wayward son, got scant peace

From her lover the niece got much to bare

Karen Olson

Old Holder did take the crown home,
It vanished which made his mouth foam,

He had quite a fit,

'Til Holmes returned it,

And saved him from an endless roam.

Bill Dorn

Holder lends funds on 39 gems

Arthur "steals" stones; Dad quickly condemns

His tale did not hold up

George and Mary link up

Apologies asked to renew friends
