

The Memoirs of Sherlock Holmes

Adventure XX – The Adventure of the Musgrave Ritual

1. What were Watson's Bohemianisms?
2. What would be less desirable than a butter dish?
3. What recorded cases would have provided criminal relics?
4. Why "incoherent" (memoirs) and "trifling" (achievements)?
5. How big was the small wooden box?
6. Did two years at college in GLOR relate to the last years at a university?
7. Did "no points of contact at all" in GLOR agree with "a good deal of talk about myself and my methods"?
8. Is "scion" used elsewhere in the Canon?
9. Was this the third case in four years?
10. What are the duties of a boy?
11. Would a schoolmaster be less than 20 and so talented?
12. Was Brunton really invaluable?
13. What is significant about "splendid forehead"?
14. Are the Welsh excitable, fiery and passionate?
15. What were Brunton's mental strengths and weaknesses?
16. Was Musgrave a battle-axe type?
17. How justified was Musgrave in firing Brunton?
18. Are blazonings and charges useful?
19. How did Brunton see to get back to his room?
20. Did Musgrave get the novel to read?

21. Why did the search miss finding Brunton?
22. Don't trees grow taller in 200 years?
23. Would the iron ring be ignored for over 200 years?
24. Did Rachel take any money or luggage?
25. Where did Brunton get the old-fashioned key?
26. Why didn't Brunton use a lever to raise the stone?

Ralph Edwards, BSI

January 13, 1995