

LIMERICKS

The Memoirs of Sherlock Holmes Adventure XXV – The Adventure of the Naval Treaty

You've been asked to copy a treaty.
Though you know it's a very dull feat-y,
Never leave it! What's more,
Check the lock on the door.
Then, no problems – you'll soon wed your sweetie!

Sandy Kozinn

Watson's friend Percy was in a fix
He set a trap for a spy just for kicks
But the spy was too smart
And it broke Watson's heart
To find Percy deserved his licks

Karen Olson

Holmes had found it down in a dark hole,
'Twas the treaty lost by Tadpole,
    Though still out of his mind,
    Phelps was shocked to just find,
The lost paper beneath his own bowl.

Bill Dorn

Watson's friend Tadpole lost a treaty
Bedridden, cared for by his sweetie
    Diagnosed with fever
    Michael the deceiver
Percy accused, Holmes stayed believer

Steve Mason