The Casebook of Sherlock Holmes Adventure XLX – The Problem of Thor Bridge

Let's consider the man called "Gold King"
He was bored with his wife – or something.
 He preferred pretty Grace --
 Even Holmes liked her face –
Moral influence? Or just a quick fling?

Sandy Kozinn

King's wife was a beauty with tropical eyes
The man himself was in for a rude surprise
 She committed suicide and framed the miss
 Her action was revenge for an imagined tryst
Holmes ruined John's gun to set the cops wise

Karen Olson

A quite evil Abe Lincoln was he,
And he couldn't let Miss Dunbar just be,
 Suicide by his wife,
 Aptly changed his whole life,
And Miss Dunbar was then just set free.

Bill Dorn

Mrs. Gibson has been killed, Grace named
Many clues point to her to be blamed
 An easy to find gun
 A sleight of hand was done
In great fashion Holmes showed Grace was framed

Steve Mason
